

MAINE VOTES WET AFTER 54 YEARS OF PROHIBITION

Proposition to Repeal the Prohibitory Amendment to the State Constitution is Carried by Approximately 1000 Votes

FURTHER TROUBLE AHEAD FOR THE WETS

Must Have Legislature Repeal Statutory Law Passed in 1857 and Then Refer It to the Voters Again
---Special Legislative Session is Probable--- Leaders Talk of Results of Election.

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—With 8 towns yet to hear from, after the latest count this afternoon, prohibition in the state of Maine was lost by 522 vote. The remaining small towns yet to be heard from total less than 200 inhabitants.

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—Although all figures so far collected agree that the heretofore strongest prohibition state in the Union has gone wet by nearly a thousand votes, the prohibition forces today refuse to concede defeat. After all night conferences, during which private returns were compiled, they declared the official vote may show a dry victory. It was further intimated that if this is not the case, a recount will be asked because of the closeness of the vote.

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—Undaunted by the small majority of approximately 900 votes by which the people of Maine voted to repeal the constitutional amendment forbidding the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors, the prohibition forces today began in earnest the work of securing the 10,000 names by which the party may petition the legislature for another popular vote. Early today returns from the 16 small towns not accounted for last night were coming in slowly. These towns are not thought to have enough strength to change the result as announced. The vote of yesterday does not mean that Maine is to have limitless barrooms. The vote merely took from the constitution that prohibition amendment. On the statute books of Maine there is still a law which forbids the sale of liquor. It is now possible for the legislature, which favors license, to vote on the question of local option. Governor Plaisted said today that he could not announce this early whether he would immediately call a special session to vote on the local option question. After such vote, should the legislature pass a local option law, three months must elapse before it would become operative. The prohibitionists, with a petition containing 10,000 voters' names, could get a popular vote to decide if the people would repeal or favor the legislature's possible local option law.

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—It was estimated here last night that the Wets have won their fight to remove the prohibitory amendment from the constitution of the state by the small margin of about 1000 votes. That the Wets have carried the state is conceded by the Prohibition forces, including the leaders of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the No-License League, the organizations allied against the anti-Prohibition forces.

Maine has been dry for 54 years. Unofficial and only partial revised returns from 499 out of 521 cities, towns and plantations in Maine today give a majority of exactly 904 for repeal of the prohibition constitutional amendment.

The missing 22 towns cast less than 385 votes at the state election three years ago. The vote by congressional districts was as follows: First District—For repeal, 17,382; against, 16,473. Second District—For repeal, 15,932; against, 15,220. Third District—For repeal, 13,457; against, 13,603. Fourth District—For repeal, 14,011; against, 15,582. Totals—For repeal, 60,782; against, 59,878. About 120,000 voters cast their ballots on the question. As had been predicted, the cities were the chief strongholds of the repeal faction, but the majority of 12,000 in the total city vote was barely sufficient, according to the returns, to offset the vote of the rural communities. Although yesterday's vote did not equal that of a year ago, when the Democrats swept the state, which for years had been a Republican stronghold, the election was without question one of the most interesting contests the state has ever known.

There was not a home in any section of the state which had not been flooded with literature sent out by both sides, while the voters were waited upon by personal workers and harangued at public gatherings to cast their ballots for or against repeal as the case might be. The result was that hundreds of voters who had not visited the polls for years, with the possible exception of last year, were recorded yesterday. Little excitement marked the voting. Although the polls in some of the cities were crowded during much of the time it was an orderly crowd and gave the officials little or no trouble.

In addition to the prohibitory law the people cast their ballots on three other referendum questions—two of them have to do with amending the constitution, one of them to make Augusta forever the capital of the state and the other to raise the debt limit of cities of over 40,— people from 5 to 7 1-2 per cent, which affects Portland alone.

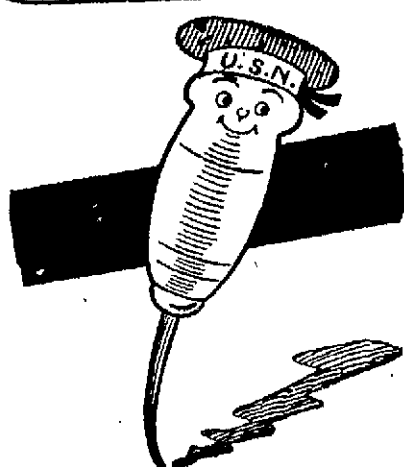

The third question has to do with the adoption of a state wide primary law, which was initiated by a petition of 15,000 voters. Since 1857 Maine has had a statute prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors and since 1884 prohibition has been a part of the constitution. In that year (1884) the question of placing prohibition in the constitution was put before the people and prohibition won by a majority of 45,938, carrying every county in the state.

Following this the attacks of the anti-prohibitionists ceased for a time, only to be renewed in later years. The Democratic party last year made the question of re-submission of the constitutional amendment to the people a plank of its platform. The Democrats swept the state in the election, and the legislature, aided by some Republican votes, voted to put the matter before the people.

The apparent decision of the voters on the face of the returns last night to take prohibition out of the constitution does not mean that liquor can lawfully be sold. The legislature must act before the present statutory law adopted in 1857 can be repealed, and the question must again go before the people.

Whether Governor Frederick W. Plaisted will call a special session of the legislature for the purpose is not definitely known, but among prominent Democrats it is reported that the governor will take such a step. On the strength of the returns, indicating the success of the repeal movement, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, national president of the W. C. T. U., issued the following statement: "There is no defeat. No call for

WHAT IS IT?

What wild animal?

Answer to Monday's puzzle—Smell.

retreat can be blown from the bugle of right. "The result of the great battle just fought in Maine is but one incident in the great onward march of prohibition."

The power of the liquor trust of this nation has been demonstrated as never before. If liquor money is effectual in overcoming the influence of the church, the educators, the grangers, the reformers, the women and the children, it is high time there should be a great uprising of the moral and religious forces of this nation. The nation must overthrow the liquor traffic or the liquor traffic will overcome the nation."

Colonel Fred N. Dow, son of the late General Neal Dow, father of the Maine prohibition law, said last night:

"A wet majority by about 1500 is indicated. This was secured mostly through the co-operation of the Republican machine with the Democratic organization. In counties where prohibition has been best enforced it was best sustained."

DIEGEL'S COURSE MYSTERIOUS TO NEWS SERVICE

Columbus, Sept. 12.—The movements of Rodney J. Diegel, convicted go-between in legislative bribery, since he was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary last Friday, has been shrouded in mystery. It was reported this morning that he had gone to French Lick Springs, Ind., with his personal attorney Egan, and in charge of a detective representing the state, but he had not arrived at that place this afternoon, according to word received from the Springs. It was stated that Diegel had gone out side of the state to prepare a confession.

GOVERNORS ARE IN SESSION AT SPRING LAKE, N. J.

GOV. WILSON PREPARES PROGRAM AND PLANS MORE WORK

And Less Entertainment—He Delivers Address of Welcome and Carey of Wyoming Responds.

Spring Lake, N. J., Sept. 12.—Extension of the power of the governor increase in the weight of the executive veto and the right to personally supervise and direct the selection of minor state officials were the principal recommendations made here today by Governor Edwin L. Norris of Montana, at the opening session of the conference of governors.

"The bestowal of supervisory control and the power to remove from office for neglect of duty certain officers charged with the enforcement of criminal laws of the state will cure many of the ills and insure more efficient public service," said Governor Norris.

Nineteen governors were present when Governor Wilson of New Jersey greeted the assemblage. After the opening addresses the convention elected Governor McGovern of Wisconsin, chairman.

THE MT. ETNA ERUPTION IS GROWING WORSE

Catania, Sept. 12.—Refugees from towns and villages on the slope of Mt. Etna are pouring into Catania today in crowds. The eruptions from the main crater, the three lesser craters which have opened, and the 14 fresh fissures which now gape in the mountainside are steadily increasing in violence and the air even in Catania is almost unbearably from the clouds of ashes with which it is filled. From some of the fissures lava is also flowing in immense streams and unless their direction is speedily turned several villages will shortly be engulfed. A number of them have already suffered seriously from the earthquake, which shake the mountainside at brief intervals.

BROKERAGE FIRM SUSPENDS

New York, Sept. 12.—After several days of persistent reports that the company was in difficulties because of a rumored defalcation, the suspension of Van Schaick & Co., well known brokerage firm, was announced on the stock exchange today. The liabilities are over $3,000,000. The company is that of which William H. Jackson, murdered recently by the 17-year-old bell boy, was cashier. Durbey Crandall, a member of the firm, this afternoon denied that there was a defalcation.

CHIEF ENGINEER CONDEMNS CONDITIONS AT THE LAKE AND ALONG OHIO CANAL

After a thorough examination of the properties appertaining to the Ohio canal and Buckeye Lake, Chief Engineer John I. Miller of the State Board of Public Works has made a report to his board, deploring and condemning the condition of the property and recommending certain changes to be made by the board if this property is to be maintained in a healthful and profitable condition. A part of his report bears upon conditions in the city of Newark and a part on the conditions at Buckeye Lake, Kirkersville, and Millersport. He recommends the abandonment of that portion of the property which extends to Millersport, the repair of all aqueducts, sluice gates and certain improvements at the lake from a sanitary standpoint. He recommends the rejuvenation of the big pile driver which is going to rack and ruin at the lake. He urges the cleansing of the canal bed to permit a better flow of water and thus improve the sanitary conditions along the waterway.

The report states that the investigation reveals the fact that at the time the measurements were taken that the lake was two feet and two inches below the standard or ordinary level and that this was due to the unnecessary waste and leakage.

He calls particular attention to the Minthorn lock which leaked badly. The leaking aqueduct which was badly decayed and in a very frail condition; the Kirkersville feeder which is full of sand bars and badly filled up with weeds and dirt; he urges special sanitary regulations at Buckeye lake on the North Bank, saying that the conditions are filthy and that flies breed freely and threaten to breed disease.

He calls attention to the holes in the barrow pit in which stagnant water accumulates and becomes a source of noxious odors.

He recommends the placing of a dredge on Buckeye Lake to cut out the tussocks and filling in swampy shores. He states that many islands could be made that in time would be a source of profit to the state. He says that the filling in of the swampy ground would rid the lake of the mosquito breeding places and improve the sanitary conditions.

The report states that the greatest expense in placing the big property in good condition would be expended on the branch of the canal between Newark and the Lake. Engineer Miller says that this stretch of the canal is about nine miles long and in this section there are two aqueducts in a poor state of repair. He calls special attention to the conditions of these aqueducts and says that in a short time they will be useless. He says the canal is filled with sandbars, vegetable growths and portions of old locks, etc. He says if the contract for water in Newark and along the canal are to be fulfilled by the state this property must be repaired. He recommends the dredging of the canal bed or the construction of a tube-conveyor of either iron or concrete to take care of this water supply.

The engineer calls attention to the properties contained in the lake and canal water which makes it particularly valuable for use of industries. He says the revenue from this source is about $1300 per year and that the estimated cost of repairs would be $60,000. He says the water consumers express a willingness to pay more if they are assured a steady supply of water, but he does not believe they would stand for a raise of nearly 400 per cent which would be necessary if the state would expect to realize on the investment for improvements.

"There would be then, but one alternative, viz: to abandon this section altogether for hydraulic purposes."

According to the report, the state maintains four miles of the canal below the southern end of the lake merely to supply the Fairfield paper company with water at $106 per year. He recommends the canceling of the contract with the paper mill and the abandonment of this section of the canal. He suggests the construction of a substantial bulkhead at this outlet of the lake and cutting off the water supply.

He sums up his report in the following terse paragraphs:

Finish the walls necessary to strengthen the banks.
 Rebuild the Minthorn lock.
 Build substantial bulkhead at Millersport end.
 Dredge and Restore Kirkersville feeder.
 Build conduit over Lake Branch.
 Build conduit over Raccoon river.
 Build conduit through City of Newark.

Dredge and clean out Newark hydraulic.

Remove "floaters" from the lake. Rehabilitate the state pile driver. Install a substantial dredge on the lake.

Fill up the stagnant pools along north shore.

Close up the culverts and ditches emptying into south end.

Adopt stringent regulations governing sewage and sanitation.

OVERCOME BY GAS IN WELL

Indiana, Pa., Sept. 12.—Asphyxiated by noxious gases in a well 25 feet deep in which they were digging for several days, Daniel Stephens, 36, and John Read, 26, today are dead near Kenwood, 8 miles north of here. Read was overcome while putting the pump into place, falling to the bottom. Stephens shouted for help and started to his companion's rescue and also fell unconscious to the bottom. One after another of the rescuers as they were let down into the well were overcome but were drawn out in time. Finally one of the men put the end of a garden hose in his mouth to enable him to breathe and recovered the bodies of the victims.

ELEVEN HURT BY CYCLONE AT HOBART, MICH.

Reed City, Mich., Sept. 12.—Eleven are known to have been badly injured in a cyclone which swept two counties in this district last night. All wires in the territory are down and details are still very meager. Property loss is said to have been heavy. Reports of the storm were brought by the passengers on a G. R. and I. train who stated that one woman and six children had been hurt during the cyclone at Hobart, Mich. A large part of the town is reported devastated and a relief party has been dispatched there from Bay City.

TENSION IS INCREASED IN MOROCCAN CASE

London, Sept. 12.—Rates of insurance against a European war within two months were quoted at from 10 to 12 per cent today on account of the increased tension between France and Germany. The French cabinet's reported decision to reject Germany's latest proposal is regarded in British official circles as perfectly natural. German demands are said to include specifications for a 30 per cent share for Germany in all French public works in Morocco and are of such a nature that neither French interests nor French respect would permit acquiescence.

WOMAN FALLS INTO GRAVE AT A FUNERAL

Coshocton, Sept. 12.—While attending a German funeral in Chill near here Mrs. Christian Beingsle, aged 70, was pitched into the open grave when the ground beneath her suddenly gave way. The burial was delayed by the cave-in and the woman is in a serious condition, having suffered a fractured hip.

MOUNTERS WALK OUT AT WEHRLES

Discharge of Several Men Said to Have Caused the Action

SIXTY MEN CONCERNED

Activity of Discharged Men in Organizing Union Said to Have Prompted Their Dismissal.

About one hundred stove mounters employed at the Wehrle stove works, this city, went on strike Tuesday morning, and their action was the principal topic of conversation on the streets throughout the day. About one hundred mounters and apprentices are affected.

It seems that the mounters employed at this plant have been out of the union and during the past few days efforts have been made by a number of the most active of the employees to bring them within the fold. It is said that the action of these men did not accord with the policy of the management and on Monday several of the men were discharged, they being told that their services were no longer needed.

Tuesday morning when the mounters went to work they were informed of the action taken regarding the leaders of the movement for organizing them into a union, and they immediately "quit" work and marched out of the plant in a body, after having given notice that they would not return to work until the discharged men had been reinstated.

The striking mounters made arrangements to hold a meeting in the Music Hall Tuesday afternoon, and if possible, devise means for settling the trouble and coming to an amicable understanding with the management of the plant.

It is the hope of all that the trouble will be settled at the earliest possible moment, for if the strike is continued it will mean not only hardship to the mounters and their families, but will be the means of throwing men in other departments of the plant out of work.

The Advocate made several efforts Tuesday afternoon to get in communication with some one at the Wehrle plant who could make a statement of the matter, but all efforts failed to round up any one who could give the desired information.

MOUNTAINEERS WOULD LYNCH GIRL'S ASSAILANT

Hendersonville, N. C., Sept. 12.—Freely asserting that there will be a lynching if they overtake their quarry, posses of mountaineers took up the search for the murderer of 7-years-old Myrtle Hawkins in earnest today. The revelation at the coroner's investigation showing that the girl had been violently assaulted and then slain have aroused the country side and swift vengeance will be meted out to her assailant if captured.

MAY OUST ENTIRE CITY GOVERNMENT

Gary, Ind., Sept. 12.—Gary today faces the possibility of being without a city government as a result of the present anti-graft crusade.

Following a statement by Prosecutor Greenwald that still other indictments for bribery have been issued in connection with the Dean lighting franchise, it became known today that plans are being made to oust the entire city council, the mayor and other officers.

The ouster suits are in the hands of Attorney W. D. Hodge, who is acting for Thomas B. Dean. Hodge says the ouster suit will be based on the same evidence as the bribery cases and that they will be filed during the present week.

It is stated that Dean is in Indianapolis today in conference with Governor Marshall over conditions at Gary.

PLAYERS ARE LEAVING NEWARK

With the close of the Central league season on Sunday many of the players on the Newark team returned to this city before going to their homes. But today sees the leaving of many to their homes for the winter. Goldrich returned to his home in Chicago, and C. R. Parker, shortstop, with his wife, went to Mansfield, where the former has accepted a position. Dolly Gray has gone to his home in Van Wert and Midge Craven fled his way to Grand Rapids.

Several of the players will remain in Newark for the remainder of this week.

HYPNOTIZED BY PITCHED BALL

Hypnotized by a pitched ball, unable to duck or dodge out of the way of rib-cracking heaves from the pitcher's box.

That's what's the matter with Frank Chance, peerless leader of the Chicago Cubs, who has been on of the game muls of the season with bad headaches. Another hypnotized victim of the pitched ball is Elberfeld of the Washington American League team. But Elberfeld has not been driven to the bench yet.

Chance was "beamed" 27 times owing to his inability to get out of the way, and Elberfeld hasn't counted smashes.

Chance and Elberfeld set themselves at the plate flat-footed, in such a manner that they are unable to step forward or backward quickly to escape the ball. Many others do the same, but the pair named carry it further. They are unable to dodge to escape the ball.

Connie Mack says that when, at first, Elberfeld was hit so often that the umpires refused to let him have his base unless he was hit hard enough to take away the suspicion that he was trying to let the ball graze him. The "Tabasco Kid" was accused of letting the ball hit him in order to get his base.

"We argued with Elberfeld, asking him why he permitted himself to be hit so often, and he would say 'Honest, I can't help it. I go up there every day determined to duck when I see the ball coming at me, but I can't get away from it. It is just as if I was hypnotized.'"

This explains why the American League pitchers have been unable to drive the "Kid" away from the plate. At bat Elberfeld crowds the plate until he is over the danger line. Pitchers have tried for years to drive him back, and despite the fact that his arms have been at times so tender from stopping pitched balls that he screamed when they were massaged, he did not change his batting position.

In time the pitchers learned that Elberfeld could not get away from the ball, and, as in the case of Chance they now try to keep the ball away from him.

HIT BY BALL; DIES.

STANSBURY DRAFTED TO CLEVELAND

Cleveland, Sept. 12.—The Cleveland American League baseball club yesterday announced that two additional players, Third Baseman Stansbury, leased to the Toledo American Association team, and Pitcher Hirsch of the Auburn, Neb., team, have been secured by draft. It was announced that Shortstop Chapman, purchased from the Davenport, Ia., team has been released to the Toledo American League team.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Newark Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Newark readers.

Amos Frey, Toboso, Newark, Ohio, says: "I have been entirely free from kidney trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me over eleven years ago. I suffered severely from pains through the small of my back and they were always aggravated by the least exertion. If I sat in one position for any length of time, my back became so sore that I could hardly arise. I took several remedies but the relief obtained was slight and I continued to grow worse until I was in a serious condition. I finally read of Doan's Kidney Pills and as they were highly recommended for complaints similar to mine, I procured a box. They lived up to representations, going directly to the seat of my trouble and ridding me of all pain. I have always recommended Doan's Kidney Pills highly and I deem it a pleasure to do so."

HOUSE CLEANING HORRORS.

The time for the great annual round-up of dirt of all kinds, microbes and all that are obnoxious to the cleanly housekeeper is about at hand. It is a hard piece of work and means tired heads and hands, sagged out mentally and bodily.

Hewitt's Easy Task soap will reduce this work one-half and make the home brighter than ever. It is as good for woodwork as for bed linen, lace curtains, porcelain, dishes and all that is washable. Five cents a cake.

Andrew Fisher, Prime Minister of Australia, has declined to receive a degree from Oxford on the ground that he is an uneducated man, and the honor is not suited to him.

PENDRY LEADS---GRAY BEATS SPENCER

When the curtain was officially rung down on Doc Carson's Portable League Sunday, Newark's orphan representation was holding its own in a few particulars. Dolly Gray on last Thursday had climbed up to third place in the batting order, leading Spencer of Dayton by two points, and Pendry had it on all other base swipers in the league by about fifty steals. Gray was the only Newark man batting over .300. Wickland was close to the mark with .283. Kohn poled to the tune of .281 and Pendry made his reach to .280.

Craven, Murray and C. Parker all hit better than .250.

When slugger Spencer, of the Dayton champs, gave up the running for the present season during the recent Port Wayne series as a result of an injured foot, the big buster and annexed 159 safe swipes for the season. That enables him to pass Young's mark of a year ago when the Port Wayne outfielder hit safely 166 times. Had Spencer been able to miss the season he would possibly have boosted his total hits to 185.

MOONLIGHT STROLL ENDS ABRUPTLY

Two doctors were required to repair the damage done by an angry husband Monday night when he discovered his wife, in company with another man, strolling peacefully along East Locust street, near Stanbery, in the moonlight. The wife's admirer, who is a stranger in town and said to be connected with the publishers of the new directory, was roughly handled by the irate husband, and Drs. Barnes and Shiver were called to patch him up. He was removed to the Sanitarium, where it is stated that he is not seriously injured, though he is "badly banged up."

WITNESS ATTACKS ACCUSED MAN IN COURT ROOM

Washington, Sept. 12 One of the most dramatic scenes enacted within the memory of the police took place today at the inquest to determine the responsibility for the death of 12 year old Harry Smith. Myrtle aged 18, the dead boy's trail sister fought fiercely to choke Toni Milano in whose shop the bruised and burned body of the boy was found. Agonized by the strain and the testimony Miss Smith suddenly leaped from her chair and before spectators and police could prevent had clutched the throat of the impassive Italian held on suspicion of the crime. The Food Behind the Men Behind the Gun

When the American battleship Fleet visited the Thames last November, the London Daily Mirror sent a representative aboard the flagship with instructions to find out the cause of the superior physical condition of the American Jack-tar over the average British Blue-jacket.

An officer of the American flagship, upon being questioned regarding the food of the American Navy, said: "They have the best food of any navy on earth, and when they ask for more—like Oliver Twist—they have it without question."

Then the chief commissariat officer handed the newspaper man a sample breakfast bill of fare. It read:

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

The Business Girl's Truest Economy.

HOW to be wisely economical is a problem that often puzzles the earnest business girl. She earns rather a small salary, and she wants to save. How shall she manage so that she can save.

She is perfectly right in wanting to save; and every business girl should save something each week, even if it can be a no larger amount than ten cents. To many girls, this sum seems so trifling that if they cannot put by more, they will not save any. But if they will begin with ten cents, they will soon find it increasing to fifteen, and more. In this case, it is not the amount that counts, but the habit.

But this is another story. How can the girl who wants to save, economize so she can save, on a small salary? Many a girl does it by making her own clothes at night, or trimming her hats, or working in some such way. Also, many a business girl who wants prettier clothes than she can afford to buy gets them by sewing at night. But both these girls are unwise. The girl who wants to economize should begin first by saving herself. The business girl's truest economy is economy of her earning powers.

The business girl's real success lies in her work. To do this well, she needs to come to it fresh every morning, unwearied, and with an appetite for it. All her faculties need to be on the alert. She needs to keep herself posted in her work, to advance as it advances. This means that she not only will enjoy her work, but that she will earn more and more in it as the years go by.

If now, she works at night, she will come to her business in the morning, fagged. She will be tired, sleepy. She will be liable to make mistakes. She will not have that air of alertness and vigor that employers like. And the few dollars she has saved by her night-work will be more than lost in the course of the year by her failure to advance in the business world.

Then, too, the girl who tries to economize by working at night often pays out for tonics, for days lost at the office, for doctor's and oculist's bills, far more than she has saved by her extra labor. It is usually poor economy in the long run. She will find that the most profitable economy is economy of her earning powers.

Many a girl is compelled to make her clothes at night, because her salary is so small there is no evading the necessity. But even this girl should remember that her truest economy is economy of herself, and should try to cut this home work down to its lowest limit. Her whole effort should be to pull ahead on the salary question, to earn more so that she can cut out the home work; and she should keep herself just as fresh and vigorous as possible for her business day. For this is where her money comes from.

Instead of trying to economize by making her clothes, a girl can cut down on their cost by judicious buying, by getting things that will wear well, by dressing simply. A little self-denial for a few years in this matter will enable her to get ahead, and then her salary will enable her to get the pretty things she craves. Whereas, by trying to economize, by burning the candle at both ends, she simply wears herself out, and at the end of a few years, not only is not any farther ahead in the business world, but she is not half so able physically to fight the battle for a living. The business girl who wants to save should begin first by saving herself. Eventually, it is the surest road to increase her bank account.

SOLDIERS CAN'T STOP UPRISING

Pekin, Sept. 12—Reports that the military commander at Cheng Tu has committed suicide as a result of his inability to suppress the anti-government uprising there, are interpreted as meaning that the rebels are in complete control of the locality and probably that the government troops have suffered an overwhelming defeat. Telegraphic communication being cut off, definite information is lacking, but rumors are current of widespread looting, incendiarism and murder.

Wealthy Countess Who Plans a Gigantic Columbus Monument

Countess Annie Leary and Mrs. Hetty Green, two of the world's wealthiest women, are working together on a plan to found a great university on the highest point of Staten Island, New York, in memory of Christopher Columbus. On the 80 or more acres near Castleton, which are to be donated by the papal counts, there will also be erected a gigantic bronze statue of the discoverer. The movement is already under way and the countess and Mrs. Green are confident they will easily succeed in inducing their wealthy friends to contribute toward the statue if not to the university. In her home at 1032 Fifth avenue, New York, the countess announced her plans. She is 82 years old.

COUNTRESS ANNIE LEARY

Celt and Saxon. One of Sheridan's tales was of an Irishman who met a Briton of the true John Bull pattern standing with folded arms in a contemplative mood, apparently meditating on the greatness of his little island.

"Allow me to differ with ye!" exclaimed the Celt.

"But I have said nothing, sir," replied John Bull.

"And a man may think a lie as well as publish it," persisted the pugnacious Hibernian.

"Perhaps you are looking for fight?" queried the Briton.

"Allow me to compliment ye on the quickness of ver perception," said Patrick, throwing down his coat. And then they pitched in.

A Tree That Grows Dishes.

There is a tree in the West Indies that the natives say "grows dishes." It looks like an apple tree. They call it the calabash. It bears very queer leaves and large white blossoms that grow right from the trunk and larger branches. After the flower comes the fruit, just as our apples or peaches do. But this fruit is in the shape of a gourd, only stronger and very much larger, sometimes a foot in diameter. The shell is so hard that all sorts of big and little dishes and drinking cups can be carved out of it. Even pots and kettles are made and used over the fire, but of course they cannot last as long as our metal ones.—London Telegraph.

TUSCARAWAS ENDORSEMENT OF CONG. ASHBROOK

The recent action of the Democratic Central and Executive committees of Tuscarawas county in endorsing Congressman Ashbrook for a fourth term meets the approbation of the Advocate-Tribune, the leading Republican newspaper of Tuscarawas county.
Speaking of the Democratic action that paper says:

"The indorsement of Congressman Ashbrook for a fourth term probably reflects the sentiment of a vast majority of Democrats in Tuscarawas county, as he is one of the most popular Democratic congressmen who has ever represented this district in congress."

That Congressman Ashbrook is appreciated for his services to his constituents by people of all parties is distinctly reflected in the above paragraph from a newspaper of opposite political views possessing the influence and standing of the New Philadelphia Advocate-Tribune.

have to do to obtain statehood, is a story that the American people have never fully heard. Information has gone out over the wires from Washington that President Taft will permit Arizona to enter the union by simply striking the "recall of the judiciary" provision from its constitution.

But only when these facts are considered can the full significance of the President's action be grasped.

First, that the people of Arizona by a vote of three to one declared in favor of the recall.

Second, that in order to obtain statehood the people of Arizona must go to the polls again and vote against a principle of government that they have already voted in favor of, and which they believe to be right.

By thus coercing the people to vote against a thing which their best judg-

GREED OF TRUSTS FROM STANDPOINT OF PRICES

There is evidence on every hand that the trusts, which have a monopoly on all the necessities of life, are maintaining prices at the highest level ever known in this country. Even in war time, when most of the abled-bodied men were away to the front and the requirements of the two-armies were so great that at times enough food stuffs and wearing apparel could not be produced to supply them, prices were not as high as they now are, when every granary and storehouse is full.

Below is a comparative table, showing that war itself is not as great a menace to the country as the greed of trusts, from the standpoint of prices:

War Time.	Article.	Now.
$1.10	Flour	$1.75
14c a lb.	Pork	18-20c a lb.
21-22c a lb.	Hams	20-28c a lb.
8c-12c a lb.	Lard	12-12c a lb.
15-20c a lb.	Butter	30-35c a lb.
14c a lb.	Cheese	35c a lb.
10c-15c a lb.	Sugar	6-7c a lb.
30-35c a gal.	Molasses	32-38c a gal.
6-12c a lb.	Beef	15c a lb.
13c and 16c a lb.	Coffee	25-40c a lb.

ment tells them to be wise, threatening to withhold from that people, unless they vote as the chief executive dictates, rights to which they are justly entitled under the constitution.
President Taft has committed himself to an action which is without precedent in the history of the American republic.

The President has said to the people of Arizona, in effect: "No matter whether the majority believe that the recall of judges is wise or not; unless that majority goes to the polls and pretends that it is against the recall,
I will deprive the people of Arizona of statehood. Yes, I will deprive the people of Arizona of statehood whether they are entitled to it under the constitution or not, unless they vote not the way they may desire, but as I command them to vote."

While this method of forcing the people may be compatible to the mental workings of an executive with a "judicial temperament," isn't it after all making a farce out of representative government?

Final valuations will have been placed on all street and interurban railroads by the end of this week, with the exception of the street railways in Columbus and Toledo. In the Columbus case the officials of the company have till next Tuesday to furnish additional data. In the Toledo case the company has been given to September 25 to furnish additional information and briefs. There is a franchise controversy in Toledo and the Commission is satisfied to give the Toledo company as much time as possible, in the hope that the controversy will be settled before it is necessary to fix the valuation finally. The Commission will not grant any further hearing to anyone on the general proposition as to how this class of complaints shall be valued.

The Fremont (Nebraska) Herald says: President Taft has started training for the great Marathon race against Harmon, who is developing a speed that may shame the racing qualities of previous Democratic presidential candidates.

A Refreshing Drink For Fever Patients

To half a glass of any good syrup left from a candy or a glass of grape juice is especially wholesome and a few lumps of ice. Fill up the glass with cold water. This may be made more nourishing by adding the yolk or white of a fresh egg and shaking the whole well.

WOODS HUTCHINSON.

Words fail me when I try to tell how much I owe to Dr. Hutch.
Because of him I'm sound and well. I've thrown away my staff and crutch. This humble tribute must suffice—it is the best that I can spring; I always read his good advice, and then I do the other thing. If he suggests that oatmeal mash will drive away my pain and ache, I go down town and buy my cash for wachowurst and hamburger steak. "Iced tea," he wrote, "will make you frill, it's full of poisons rank and vile." So now I drink it by the pail, and I can whip a crocodile. "Three baths a day," that doctor cried, "will make you feel like King of Gath." He printed that last Whitmanite, since which I haven't had a bath. I cherish everything he writes, and save it up for use; and I paste it in a book at nights, to pass around among my friends. The doctor's wisdom is condensed, and it will save those ailing friends, if they'll do all he warns against, and sidestep all he recommends.

REUNION OF FIRST OHIO V. V. CAVALRY

The surviving members of the First O. V. V. C. will hold their annual reunion in Memorial Hall, in the Wells
Post room, Columbus, Thursday, Oct.
5, 1911. This is the anniversary of the muster of the regiment, 50 years ago. This famous old regiment was organized in Licking County, Ohio, in 1861. It was composed principally of Licking, Franklin and Union county boys. Among those from this city who were members of this company were the late Major D.
A. Moore, Captain S. G. Hamilton,
Captain James H. Kirkendall, First Lieutenant Harvey Ferguson, Nathaniel Fluegan, George Coulter and Comrade Kellenberger and others.
While but a few platoon of the 1845 who were members of the regiment during the four years of service survive, it is hoped that all will be at the golden anniversary. Of the 54 original officers of the regiment but five survive. General James H. Wilson is the only survivor of the great cavalry leaders of the war under whom the members of the First Ohio served. Generals Crook, Louis Kilpatrick, Stanley, Garrard, Upton, Alexander, Elliott, McCook, Mitchell, A. J. Smith and many others have been mustered out. Colonel W. L.
Curry, commissioner of pensions,
Columbus, is secretary of the association.

U. S. AUTHORITIES TAKE ACTION AGAINST PIANO PUZZLE FAKIRS

Sweeping Investigation to be Undertaken---Criminal Prosecution by State and Federal Officers--- Important Ruling from Washington, D. C.

An order has gone forth from the Post-Office Department forbidding the publication of easy "puzzles" solution of which is rewarded by jewelry and cash presents—after the purchase of a piano.

Postal authorities assert certain dealers advertise that on the correct solution of the puzzle the victim may come to the office and receive the prize. It was not then, revealed that the $200 prize is in the form of an alleged reduction in the price of a piano and that the usual diamond pin and full array of china are given only after the dealer has a prepaid order for a new instrument.

Some advertisements say railroad fare within 100 miles of the establishment will be paid. It is usually paid by the victim. This was the situation reported by Mrs. Jennie Rose, of Waukegan, Ill., who told every cent she had to take her baby with her to Chicago. The $200 she had gone for she was told would come only in the form of a reduced due bill. Penniless and half starved the woman and child were turned over to the county agent.

The fact that a Chicago daily newspaper has at last taken up the fight for the victims of the various nefarious schemes being practiced there to fleece the public is hailed with delight by piano manufacturers and dealers who are co-operating with legitimate piano dealers in their campaign for the uplift of the piano industry.

The following from Washington throws more light on the case: "Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—A score or more of piano dealers and manufacturers throughout the country have fallen into bad odor with the postoffice department within the last few months because of the character of so-called "puzzles" which they had adopted for the stimulation of trade. Many of these puzzles have been stigmatized as "lotteries" and therefore, "fraudulent," by Russell P. Goodwin, assistant attorney general for the post-office department, and as a consequence, have been barred from the mails, as have the publications which have carried them as advertisements. "The argument of the department is that these 'puzzles' are so palpably easy of solution as to bring a flood of answers, and that the 'prizes' are intended to benefit the advertiser more than the persons to whom they are awarded. Under the official ban comes most notably the certificate scheme, whereby the contestants who solve the 'puzzle' receive as a reward an elaborate document, crediting them with $100 more or less, on the purchase of a piano from the advertiser."

TOURISTS TO HOLY LAND WELCOMED FOR THEIR MONEY

Washington, Sept. 12.—Tourists who visit the Holy Land are hailed by the natives as a welcome and steady source of income. Interest in the subject led Consul William Coffin, at Jerusalem, to make inquiries and he reached this conclusion as to the share of the gold garnered in that district:

"Most of the tourists remain four or five days in Jerusalem and vicinity. A low estimate of each individual's expenses during his stay would be $25, and if the 7,200 tourists in 1909-10 season spent only that much per capita they left $180,000 behind them. The sum they do spend is without a doubt considerably in excess of these figures, and, added to the smaller expenditures of the thousands of pilgrims, makes an important part of the district's income."

The production of the exports classed under the heading of religious souvenirs forms one of the leading industries in both Jerusalem and Bethlehem. In the latter town there are several concerns shipping mother of pearl articles, chiefly rosaries and crosses, all over the world. Most of the pearl waste from which these are made come from the United States.

In Jerusalem there are numerous small shops manufacturing olive-wood boxes, crosses, flower albums, etc., for the tourist trade. The export statistics of this trade are of no value whatever, as they do not include the extensive shipments by parcels post or, of course the goods which tourists buy and carry away with them.

"The trade is largely dependent on the tourist movement, although, particularly for mother-of-pearl articles there is a steady demand from abroad independent of tourists. The souvenir shops in Jerusalem sell many oriental wares such as weapons, antiques, bric-a-brac, inlaid furniture, and rugs, most of which are imported from Damascus."

Frederick the Great.

Beyond conception are the remarkable feats of magic and illusion given by Frederick the Great, who possesses the wonderful power to entertain not only the children, but who mystifies the most profound mind of today. His power to transform inanimate objects to living creatures and vice versa.

Frederick the Great will be seen at the Auditorium theatre Wednesday evening, Aug. 13.

HONEY BOY MINSTRELS

at the Auditorium theatre next Friday evening, Sept. 15.

The bill at the Arcade theatre for the first three days of this week can truly be called one of the season's best. Three capacity houses greeted them yesterday and every one was pleased. One of the features is the Four Grohvinis, consisting of three ladies and a gentleman. It is wonderful to see the ladies perform. They have a line of work that is entirely new. Can you imagine one miss whirling two full grown women, hanging by their teeth to either end

MISS MANNING

Of Browning and Manning, at the Orpheum Tuesday and Wednesday of a long pole balanced and whirled only by her feet. This is but one of their feats. Manager Bassett worked on the same bill with them several years ago and knowing the act to be a good one, put forth every effort to secure them. Browning and Manning made good with their singing and talking. Browning is clever and keeps the house laughing, while Miss Manning is dainty and sweet. They render one beautiful duet, which Mr. Browning accompanies on a mandolin, in excellent style. His burlesque on an illustrated song is good. Lorraine McNellie, the bathing girl, proved herself worthy of the applause she is receiving everywhere. She has a fine voice and an excellent list of songs, with a fine wardrobe. Johnny Fox and Lilla offered something new. Mr. Fox is the original upside down man and pleased all with his fancy clog dancing while on his hands, walking up and down stairs with a lady on his back as easily as if on his feet. Miss Lilla and her "Snowball Song" made a hit. The Orpheumscope has a pretty picture.

The Olympian Ladies' Quartet, which has been announced for the High School auditorium Thursday night, has appeared in practically every city of consequence in Ohio, besides many other states. More than that, they have traveled through Australia and South Africa and other foreign countries, and at every place their concert makes a big hit. The vocal and instrumental selections of this quartet are artistic and pleasing. The sale of the tickets to the concert indicates that there will be a good attendance.

Instead of patching up an old quarrel some people would rather make a new one.

A LEGACY OF ILL HEALTH

Don't Let the Debility Which Follows an Attack of the Grip Make an Invalid of You.

After an acute attack of the grip the patient is frequently left in a condition that may mean a lifetime of misery if proper precautions are not taken to restore the blood and drive out the lingering poisons that cause the so-called "after-effects" of the disease.

The grip leaves behind it weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion and over-sensitive nerves—a condition that makes the system an easy prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, rheumatism, nervous prostration, and even consumption. Too much stress cannot be laid on the importance of strengthening the blood and nerves during convalescence.

"I came down with the grip," says Mrs. R. M. Williams, of East, Mich., "and taking cold when I got up, was sick for two months. I was confined to bed for over three weeks and was practically helpless, having to be turned over in bed. I had no appetite, lost in flesh and had no color. The doctor said I would not be able to get around for a year at least but after being under his care for several weeks and getting no better I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I had taken them before as a tonic with benefit. They helped me during the first week and I took them regularly until cured. I am certain Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People saved me from being a helpless invalid for life."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a certain blood-builder and are especially adapted for the treatment of diseases arising from a lack of blood. Their work is to make new blood. That they do this well is shown by the gradual disappearance of the symptoms and the return of color and strength. They lay the foundation for permanent health in the future.

These pills have cured anemia, rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia, sciatica, general debility and nervousness and are recommended wherever a blood-builder or a tonic for the nerves is needed.

A valuable booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," will be sent free upon request to any office interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

126 MILES ON FIRST DAY OF LONG FLIGHT

ROBERT FOWLER STARTS ON TRIP—TO BE FIRST TO SAIL ACROSS CONTINENT.

Sept. 11—Robert G. Fowler started from San Francisco in attempt to fly 3200 miles to New York.

Auburn, Calif., Sept. 12.—Aviator Robert Fowler ascended here at 9:34 this morning and began his perilous flight across the mountains. He was delayed in starting by the difficulty of finding a proper starting point. When the aviator arrived just west of Alpa his machine was seen to fall from a considerable height, but dis-

HEALTHY MOTHERS

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

BRADFELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

patches received from that place say that Fowler was but slightly hurt. It was reported that something went wrong with his steering gear when he was in mid-air and the machine dropped. It was badly smashed, although the engine was not wrecked. Fowler escaped with only a few minor bruises.

According to the present itinerary of Aviator Fowler, he will in all probability sail over Newark in about three weeks. He will stop at Chicago, Ill., Fort Wayne, Ind., Indianapolis, Ind., and Pittsburgh. His flight from Indianapolis to Pittsburgh will take him over Newark.

Auburn, Calif., Sept. 12.—Early today Robert C. Fowler, the daring aviator, who is endeavoring to fly across the American continent, faced the most hazardous part of his entire trip, when he attempted to cross the Sierras near the Truckee Pass. Fowler expressed complete confidence in the ability of his aeroplane to weather the passage just before he ascended. He declared that it he got through the pass in safety, he would fly immediately to Reno, Nev., and attempt nothing further today.

San Francisco, Sept. 12.—With the steady trade winds of the Pacific at his back, Robert Fowler, the first aviator to attempt a transcontinental flight, sped today up the fertile Sacramento Valley and landed at 6:36 last evening at the foot of the white ramparts of the Sierras, the conquest of whose summit may prove the ultimate test of success or failure for his attempt.

With a brief halt at Sacramento for oil and gasoline, he drove his bi-plane high over the rolling foothills and landed without a single untoward incident at Auburn, Cal., 126 miles from his starting place.

Spurred by a mother's kiss and a "God bless you," Fowler rose from the stadium in Golden Gate Park at 1:37 p. m. Sweeping in a circle over the surf of the Pacific, his air craft swung like a compass needle until his forward planes were notched in the gap in the snow line of the Sierras, through which he hopes to pass.

As he swept high over the dome of the state capitol at Sacramento, a roar from the thousands massed in Agricultural Park directed him to his landing place. After a daring spiral he settled easily to the ground.

He had covered the 90 miles of the first leg of his journey in exactly two hours.

At 5:55 he slipped back into the driving seat, signalled to his mechanics and was off to the eastward.

His mother's kiss was not the only one imprinted on his lips before he started on his hazardous journey. As he passed close to the ropes that held back the crowd from his machine, a pretty and impetuous miss threw her arms about the aviator's neck and kissed him fervently. Before he could break away a woman had pinned a "votes for women" badge on the breast of his leather coat.

Fowler expects to make the transcontinental trip in 26 days. He left Auburn early this morning, expecting to cross the backbone of the Sierras through the treacherous gorges of the Truckee Pass and land for the night at Reno.

As scheduled, he will make stops at Elko, Nev.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Granger and Cheyenne, Wyo.; North Platte, Neb.; Omaha, Rock Island, Chicago, Fort Wayne, Indianapolis, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Albany, and New York. He will follow the tracks of the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Chicago and Northwestern railroads, and will be accompanied by a full staff of mechanics and parts of three complete biplanes.

James Ralph Jr., a member of the directorate of the Panama-Pacific exposition, christened the aeroplane at 11:35 o'clock with a bottle of water from the Pacific ocean.

Fowler did not show the slightest uneasiness as he directed preparations for the flight.

WOODEN SHOES SHIPPED INTO U. S. FROM AMSTERDAM

Washington, Sept. 12.—Wooden shoes, usually associated only with variety shows and pictures of street scenes in Holland, are in fact worn by thousands of people in this country. A single shipment from Amsterdam to Grand Rapids, Mich., mentioned in a report by Vice Consul De Young, consisted of 600 cases, containing several thousand pairs of the lumber footwear. A similar shipment was made a few months ago.

Also the report reveals the sections of the United States addicted to the habit as follows:

"It is stated that the United States is the best foreign customer of the Netherlands for this article of manufacture, many hundreds of pairs of wooden shoes being worn in Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, New Jersey and a few other states. In fact it is claimed that there are more wooden shoes in Chicago, Grand Rapids, Mich., or Holland, Mich., than in the city of Amsterdam. Paterson, N. J., St. Louis, Mo., Lancaster Co., Neb., Marion, Co., Iowa and numerous other smaller settlements import large quantities of this practical article of dress every year.

"The wooden shoe industry in the Netherlands is generally decentralized, logs being hewed out to the measure of the customer's feet in the village shop. The local price depends largely upon the amount of lumber used and the market price of raw material. There are, however, a few large factories using modern woodworking machinery and exporting most of their product. The principal countries to which they export, in order of their importance, are the United States and Canada, West Indies, Germany and South Africa.

Some men would rather step on other people's toes than stand on their own merits.

WHITE MARBLE MEMORIAL TO CHRIS. COLUMBUS

Washington, Sept. 12.—A memorial to the memory of Christopher Columbus, widely known as a bold and inquisitive sailor, will be unique in Washington, from the fact that the statue and accompanying emblematic embellishments will be of chaste white marble.

All the other heroes, whether afoot or on horseback, that adorn most of the open spaces in Washington are celebrated with statues of bronze or other metal.

In the case of the great discoverer, the marble work will include the heroic statue of Columbus, two figures of ancient and modern inhabitants, the shaft which forms the back ground of the statue, the globe and two eagles which surmount the shaft, the caravel on which the statue stands and its allegorical figurehead, the two lions which decorate the ends of the semi-circular fountain which provides a setting for the statue and the superstructure of the fountain basin.

The memorial will adorn the plaza in front of the Union Station, at the head of a short vista looking from the capitol. It was designed by Lorado Taft of Ohio, a cousin of President Taft. He won a competition in which American and European sculptors participated. The cost of the memorial will be $70,000.

COURTSHIP IN MARRIAGE.

Many men are prone to consider that their courtship days end with marriage, but the little attentions which the wife used to delight in are still dear to her. Maybe flowers and candy are too expensive now, but a man can bring joy to her heart by making her work easier.

Have her try a cake of Hewitt's clean, white Easy Task soap. It will do half of the work which has been wearing her out, she can keep her hands soft and white, and the house will be kept neat and clean.

OLD VOLUME OF PSALMS

Mr. George Plump brought to the Advocate office a few days ago a small volume of the Psalms of David, printed in the year 1828. The little volume bears evidence of much use, though it is still well preserved, and is a valuable family treasure. The book belonged to Mr. Plump's mother and is highly prized by him.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good." It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. Ask Your Neighbors. They probably know of some of its many cures. If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Bird's Unwelcome Neighbor, the Owl

The Birds Chased the Owl Away

"THERE'S the old owl again tonight," growled Jack. "Wish he would go away," said Evelyn. "Dinah says it's bad luck to hear an owl 'a-moanin' an' a-groanin' 'round the house like that."

"Pshaw! Dinah doesn't know what she is talking about," said Daddy. "Owls may be unlucky for the mice and perhaps for young birds, but I don't think they can hurt the luck of human folks."

"But I saw something funny this morning. My, but you and Jack would have laughed! The birds had just had breakfast and were singing their merriest songs when, I suppose, old Mr. Owl poked his beak out of his hollow tree. Maybe their music kept him from going to sleep. He was out all last night, you know, and old Mr. Owl may have been tired. I don't believe he cares much for music anyway. His own song is mighty dismal. Just hear him hoot: 'To whoo-o-o! To whoo-o-o!' Maybe owl folks like that kind of singing, but I don't know any one else that cares for it."

"Frankie Green's papa doesn't," said Jack. "Frankie says his papa scolds awful. The tree where the owl lives is right over by the Greens' house, and Frankie says his papa is going to shoot that old owl if he doesn't stop making so much noise."

"Well, I am sure the birds that live around here would be quite pleased to hear that. The other birds don't seem to like neighbor owl. Owls are said to eat young birds, you know. As I was telling you this morning, when the birds caught sight of Mr. Owl they set up a great chattering, and every bird in the neighborhood from the tiniest sparrow that can fly to the fattest old grandfather robin made a dive for that hollow tree. They routed the owl out of his hole, and they chased him until he squawked for mercy. You know, owls can't see in daylight very well, and he had to keep in the shade of the tree."

"Tonight he seems to be about again and very cross, I suppose on account of being turned out of his home. I dare say he is trying to make the little birds quake in their nests with his threats of what he is going to do to pay them up for bothering him."

Just then a shot, loud and clear, rang out on the evening air. Jack and Evelyn jumped out of their beds and rushed to windows. "They've got him! They've got him!" shouted Jack after listening for a moment to the hubbub over toward Mr. Green's house. "Poor owl," said Evelyn, "but I'm glad the little birds are safe."

Business Honesty. There must be a moral standard in business ethics to deal with the man who adulterates milk and in doing so not only violates the law and cheats those who pay him, but who may by his act be the means of killing many innocent children. The man who substitutes iron filings for cork in life preservers is worse than any known thief or murderer. There must be a way to fix moral responsibility. These conditions must be dealt with in new laws and new standards, for we are ever changing. We must assume a different attitude toward riches. It should be not how much a man is worth, but rather how much worth is in a man.—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise.

Mr. Scott will go to Lancaster Thursday to attend the funeral. Mr. Whitley was one of Lancaster's foremost citizens. He was a past eminent commander of Commandery No. 2, Knights Templar. He was a prominent manufacturer and banker and was a trustee of the Ohio University at Athens. He was also a past member of the Presidential Electoral College, and was the originator and builder of the Lancaster water works. He was the father-in-law of Charles Dewey Hill, secretary to President Taft. He leaves a widow and 11 children. DEATH COMES FROM INJURY IN BALL GAME

James Walter Brown, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Brown, died at the home of the parents, 389 East Indiana street, on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, his death being due to an accident while engaged in playing baseball. About one week ago he was running bases and in order to make good, slid into a base, when the back part of his heart came in contact with the basemen's knee. Nothing was thought of the matter at the time, but inflammation of the membrane surrounding the brain, producing what is known as acute meningitis, and was the cause of his death. He is survived by his parents, two brothers and one sister. The funeral services will be held at the home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

TO STOP ILLEGAL SPONGE FISHING

Washington, Sept. 12.—A difficult task confronts the revenue cutter, Forward which has been ordered to the Keys of Florida to enforce the law regulating the taking of sponges. In a report received at the treasury department the commander of the revenue cutter says that he found a number of schooners and sloops on the sponge fishing grounds, but was unable to get evidence of violation of the law. Many of these vessels were equipped with diving apparatus. It was easy for the men on any sponge fishing ship violating the law to suspend the diving when the Forward came into sight and to throw overboard sponges taken illegally.

SENATE TO BE MORE RADICAL

Retirement of Bailey Is Gain For Progressives.

MOVEMENT IN OTHER STATES.

Nothing in the Way of Legislation That Bears Texan's Name, but During Most of His Service in Congress His Party Was in a Minority—His Petulance Hurt Him.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—The retirement of Senator Bailey and the primaries in various states have determined that the senate after March 4, 1913, will be much more progressive and radical than heretofore. The primary in Maryland, although the conservatives won the governorship, showed a strong progressive element working in that state. The vote in Virginia showed the same tendency.

Men who are now in the senate will be inclined to swing with the tide, and it may be expected that progressive measures will be more pronounced when congress meets in the regular session than it was in the special session. Much has been said about the ephemeral character of the progressive movement, but the votes of the people show a strong tendency to the advancement of radicalism in this country.

Bailey's Twenty Years.

People have begun to ask since Senator Bailey announced his intention to retire what he has accomplished in the twenty years he has been in congress. When it is found there is scarcely anything in the way of legislation that can be any possibility bear his name it must be remembered that in all those twenty years his party was in power but two years, and then it was torn by factions.

Minority members of either house do not often write statutes unless they seize upon some nonpartisan subject or something that belongs to the party in power which has been neglected. But it is doubtful if Bailey will stand as high as John Sharp Williams as a minority leader or opposition manager and adviser.

Bailey's following dwindled year by year in the senate. He was welcomed in that body as the man who would unite the opposition into a strong and compact force, but he soon found him self at the head of a desultory membership in the senate, and nearly all were men strongly inclined with protection and who would be protectionists if they were not from southern Democratic states.

Petulance In Strong Men. Bailey is the type of man whose petulance constantly made him enemies. He was so sure that whatever he thought was right and that everybody who differed with him was wrong that he was constantly alienating men of his party. His temper was violent when he was angered, and he has never been able to control himself when such control meant success.

In this Bailey was like a number of other strong men. The late Speaker Reed had a petulant temper which at times broke out and marred his great qualities. Reed also had a strong contempt for men who differed with him. The same characteristics account in a measure for the split in the Republican majority in the Sixty-first congress, when Speaker Cannon exhibited intolerant tendencies.

Newlands Versus Bailey.

In making a comparison of men few would compare Bailey with Senator Newlands of Nevada, yet the latter's name is attached to two great national measures. Newlands was quite a humble member of the minority in the house, but it was his resolution which was passed annexing Hawaii to the United States. The Newlands irrigation act is one of the most important laws that have been passed in recent years. It is not always the man of oratory and presence that does things in the national legislature.

Dr. Wood's Army.

There are many officers who will never get over the fact that the major general and chief of staff of the army was once a surgeon, and they still call him "Dr." Wood. General Wood has a scheme for six months' enlistments of soldiers which is generally ridiculed among officers. Some time since a troop of boy scouts passed by the war department, and as a group of officers looked at the youthful, struggling crowd one of them remarked, "There goes Dr. Wood's new army."

Will Loeb Be Enticed?

Different suggestions have been made for enlisting the political services of William Loeb, but he seems to be satisfied with his job as collector of the port of New York. They are talking about making Loeb the campaign manager for President Taft with the idea that he would bring the Roosevelt following into the fold and along with them many insurgents.

It is doubtful if Loeb can be tempted from his present position to engage in national politics on a large scale, although it is generally conceded that the man who makes a success of re-electing President Taft next year will make a political reputation for himself which will be much greater than any made since Mark Hanna burst into the political arena in 1890.

FIGHT BACKERS INSIST BOUT IS WITHIN THE LAW

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 12.—Before night it will be definitely decided whether the Wolgast-McFarland ten-round boxing contest will be permitted to proceed Friday. Promoters of the show said their representatives would confer with Attorney General Bancroft and Acting Governor Morris here today in an effort to convince the officials that the bout would be held entirely within the law. The state officials granted a hearing, although Morris yesterday ordered Sheriff Arnold to stop the bout.

The conference will be held during the afternoon. The boxing promoters will lay before the acting governor and attorney general articles signed by McFarland and Wolgast, calling for an exhibition of boxing for ten rounds, no decision to be rendered.

Under the articles Wolgast will receive a guarantee of $15,000 or a privilege of 50 per cent of the gate receipts. McFarland is to receive a guarantee of $7,000 and will receive also 25 per cent of the gate receipts. Sheriff Wm. Arnold today awaited the decision before making a further statement. Mayor Emil Seidel late yesterday approved the action taken by the sheriff.

Governor Francis McGovern, now at Spring Lake, N. J., issued a statement declaring that he leaves the matter entirely within the hands of the acting state executive.

Champion Ad Wolgast, who is down to 127 1-2 pounds, ceased training yesterday and will now proceed to take on weight.

The most disappointing thing about an ideal is that there isn't any such thing.

AFTER THE REVOLUTION

A Story Showing How Magnanimity Comes to Follow Victory

By EDWIN PENNINGTON

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

After every struggle resulting in a change of government there are scores to be paid off by those who have revolted. As revolutionists, instead of being favored by the law they have been hampered by it. Having established themselves in power, the other edge of the sword is brought into play and cuts in the opposite direction. Instead of being used to imprison or execute revolutionists it is used to execute the advocates of the government overthrow.

When the recent revolution in Mexico became the de facto government the revolutionists stood ready to use the law to punish those who had used it to punish them. During that period when President Diaz held his own in the city of Mexico a young lawyer, Alfonso Fernandez, a sympathizer with the insurgents, left the city to join the forces of Madero. During the fighting he was captured by the government troops, and, being a man of influence, every effort was made to induce him to return to the support of President Diaz. He was turned over to one Jose Sierra, a man deeply interested in putting down the rebellion, with orders to persuade, force or buy him to the government support.

Sierra took the captive to his hacienda, put him on his parole not to leave it and treated him like a guest instead of a prisoner. The jailer host was an adept at winning over an enemy and used every art of persuasion that suggested itself to him.

Concia, Sierra's daughter, a girl of twenty, possessed one of those oval faces of a dusky shade, large liquid eyes and especially the long lashes of the Spaniard. Her father noticed soon after Fernandez's arrival that he was attracted by his daughter and she was attracted by Fernandez. It occurred to Sierra that Fernandez's conversion might be accomplished more readily by means of the girl than by his own arguments or threats. He gave the young people every opportunity to be together and when he saw that the pear was ripe undertook to pluck it.

He offered Fernandez a prominent position under the government, which, of course, would be tantamount to securing his adherence. Fernandez declined the offer. Then Sierra informed his prisoner that he would be tried for treason, which meant that he would be found guilty and executed. In love with the daughter of the man who had made the threat, the temptation to yield and desert the cause in which he had embarked was well nigh irresistible.

Fernandez seemed to have everything to gain by giving his adherence to the established government. President Diaz then appeared to be firmly fixed in the presidency, and it would be difficult to unseat him. By yielding Fernandez would acquire a position of prominence that might be permanent. That position he might make more enduring and more prominent by throwing his influence on the side of the man who had done much for Mexico. These arguments were reinforced by the fact that on one side stood death, on the other love. But honor forbade.

Fernandez now considered the parole he had given void and began to take measures to escape if possible. Concia procured for him a woman's dress and drove him in her volante past guards who had orders to be watchful and on no account permit his escape. Had it not been that she accompanied him he would not have succeeded in deceiving them. As it was, he made good his escape and returned to Mexico City.

Not even Sierra knew how Fernandez got beyond his clutches. Concia kept her secret, and directly after the escape changes occurred that rendered the episode a thing of the past and soon to be forgotten.

After Diaz's departure and the appointment of a provisional president of the republic the work of retaliation commenced. Jose Sierra, who had been captured by the revolutionists, was brought to the capital. To accuse a man of treason against a government that was not established when the act was committed would not come with good grace from the government that had been in rebellion. Those whom Sierra had made to suffer brought him to trial for having murdered a man whom he had shot during the struggle.

And so it was that the law which had before enabled Sierra to punish now afforded the same machinery for punishing him. As to his having ordered shot the man he was accused of murdering, there was no denying the fact. That he had done the deed legally did not concern the juryman who were on the other side. The trial, therefore, was merely a judicial revenge, and a verdict of guilty was rendered accordingly.

The jury, the lawyers, the spectators, saw nothing but the bare facts of the trial that have been here outlined. To these persons in the courtroom there was far more than this. They were the judge before whom the prisoner was tried, the prisoner himself and his daughter, who sat beside him. When the time came for the sentence to be passed Sierra stood up to receive it, but was so weak that his daughter supported him.

"Jose Sierra," said the judge, "do you remember a man who once stopped at your hacienda and whom you endeavored to seduce from his allegiance to that government which now exists, but was then struggling for its existence?"

"I do."

"And do you remember having given him a choice between accepting an appointment under the Diaz government and a trial for treason, which meant death?"

"I do."

"But the man escaped. You remember that, too, don't you?"

"I do."

"You never knew how he managed to pass the guards you threw around your hacienda on every available route?"

"I did not."

"It would not have then been best for you to know this, nor is it now, but the assistance your prisoner received at that time is of great importance to you now. Had it not been for that assistance another victim would have been added to the one for shooting whom you have just been adjudged guilty."

All this was a puzzle to those present except the prisoner and his daughter. The judge spoke with evident emotion. The prisoner seemed deeply moved. His daughter as the address proceeded wound her arms tighter about her father. There was an impressiveness to the scene that held the audience spellbound. When the judge began to speak every one thought that he was about to give another instance than the one before the court why the prisoner should suffer death. When he entered upon the last matter he mentioned all were thrown into a state of doubt as to what was coming.

"We are entering in Mexico," he continued, "upon a new age—an age ushered in for the civilized world by a former president of the United States at the close of the greatest rebellion the world has ever seen. For that insurrection not a drop of blood was spilled after the surrender. I have been given discretion by my government as to the punishment to be meted out for acts that occurred during a period when every man's hand was against every other man. It is not meet in this age, when universal peace is dawning for the world, that Mexico should remain in barbarism. The acts of the troublous times through which we have recently moved belong to a dead past and should be buried with that past. The act of which you have been found guilty was repeated again and again on both sides. That the revolution has triumphed is no cause for committing in the name of justice acts of revenge."

"The finding of the jury is set aside. You are at liberty to go free."

By his address the judge attempted to prepare the feelings of those present for what had neither been expected nor desired. But the temper of the people was revengeful and had for ages been used to a different principle. A few applauded, but the majority grumbled. There were those present who had suffered at the hands of the man to whom this magnanimous treatment had been accorded. They had brought the accusation that they might be revenged—might revenge the dead they loved. They rebelled against the decision. Cries of "Tiang Him!" "Shoot him!" "Use the machete!" were heard, and a movement was made by the most active toward the prisoner. The judge arose and, raising his hand, enjoined silence.

"In striking this man," he said, "you strike the girl who loves him."

"He struck those we loved!" some one cried.

"Let me tell you one thing more, that which I spoke of, but did not speak. You remember that I mentioned the escape of one whom the prisoner would have sacrificed. I am that person."

A silence followed this announcement. That the judge had set aside a sentence of death upon the man who had intended to take his life filled those present with wonder. He had secured their attention. He went a step further.

"I will tell you how I escaped. I owe my life to that girl," pointing. "She it was who gave me a disguise and drove me through her father's guards, risking her life for mine. Had it been discovered that the person sitting beside her was the rebel they were watching for she would have doubtless been sacrificed. If you strike him you strike her, and through her you strike me, who have done my part to establish the government under which we now hope for peace and prosperity."

The crisis had come and turned in favor of the judge. Those who had opposed his decision stood looking sullenly on, while the others were won over by his magnanimity and by sympathy for the girl who had saved his life. The advocates of taking the law into their own hands began to move away muttering, leaving only those who had been converted to the cause of mercy. Those most sympathetic gathered about the girl, whether for her protection or in sympathy. Then gradually the crowd melted away and left the three principal participants in the drama.

Concia went to the judge, took his hand in hers and kissed it. Her father stood with folded arms looking at vacancy. A short time before he had been expecting death. He was now conscious only that his life had been spared and he feared nothing.

There is a sequel to this story, but this is not the place for it. Indeed, the events narrated happened too recently for it to be a finished romance. One thing is certain. This renouncing of vengeance was brought about by love.

OSLER RIGHT; YOUTH SUCCEEDS AGE

Gray Hair is First Sign of Age, Harmless Remedy Restores to Natural Color.

Osler isn't the only man who turns down old age. In the business world the "young man" is always the one who picks the plums. It is an age of "new thought," "new talent," etc., and the old man is passed by in the race.

One of the first signs of coming age is the appearance of gray hairs. When you see them, act promptly. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will correct this sign, which so often deceives people into thinking that age is really upon them. It is a well known fact that Sage and Sulphur will darken the hair. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur combines these old time remedies with other agents which remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize the druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't look old before your time. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur today, and see what an improvement it will make in the appearance of your hair.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

COUNT ON MORRIS TO TRIM 'EM ARTHUR.

New York, Sept. 12.—This week will answer the question, "is Carl Morris the real hope of the white race?" for on Friday evening he clashes with Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, in Madison Square Garden. The training of both men has been watched with great interest by fans hereabouts for if Morris is defeated there will be temporary surrender from talk about Caucasians who can take the measure of "Lil Arthur Johnson.

"DOC" FREEMAN TURNS DOWN OHIO "U" OFFER

What's the matter with Doc Freeman, one time coach at Denison? Doc was an invaluable man to the Baptists for three years, then suddenly dropped the job and went to Ohio University. Freeman coaches in baseball, football and basketball, but his big fort is track work, although he gives more attention to the gridiron than the cinder path. During the summer months he runs a boat livery at Chautauqua lake and each spring previous he builds a new and better house boat to live in while at the lake. And that isn't all. He makes Alton B. Packard look sick in lightning chalk work and his art work has more than once embellished the bulletin boards around the Denison campus. So when Doc left for the Denison campus with a substantial increase in salary there were plenty of friends who hated to see him leave.

But what's this? Yesterday he notified the authorities at Athens in his usual crisp business like way that there would be nothing doing in athletic work at Ohio University this fall as far as he was concerned and didn't even take the trouble to mention any reason. The letter came from New York. College opens at Athens Tuesday and Scout Woods has gone on a tour to Columbus, Cleveland and Ann Arbor in the hope of getting a man who could fill Doc's shoes. Woods is particularly anxious to get Xen Scott, last year coach for Reserve, but Xen has just been signed up by Case and the prospects look about as clear as mud. He is offering $1,600 for the first year with promise of an increase. Just what made Doc jump a glib-edged bonanza like that is a big question. But Freeman knows his own business and spends a great deal of his time attending to it so it looks like something good had dropped off the plum tree into Doc's lap.

FOOTBALL THIS WEEK.

New York, Sept. 12.—Football will make its formal bow to the public this week with Saturday games scheduled for Carlisle, Lafayette, Virginia and a number of smaller teams. All the colleges are at work with their preliminary squads, limbering up the big men and renewing acquaintance with the rules. Next week will see practically all the coaches launching their fall schedules.

Cornell and Dartmouth began their season's series of games a week from Wednesday, Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Brown, Pennsylvania State, Syracuse, Amherst, Wesleyan, Lehigh and a host of others appear before the public on the following Saturday.

Neither Harvard nor Yale will play mid week games this year. Harvard starts the season with Bates and Yale with Holy Cross. An interesting opportunity for early season comparison of the two great rivals will be offered a week later when Harvard will try conclusions with Holy Cross.

HIS WEDDING DAY THURSDAY.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 12.—Howard Jones, former football coach at Ohio State University, has renewed his football tactics on the field of love, and his fiancée, Miss Leah Clark, has consented to marry him a month earlier than she had planned. She now announces the wedding for Sept. 14, instead of October 10.

Miss Clark's engagement to Mr. Jones, when announced caused great astonishment among her friends. Miss Clark, early in July visited a school friend in Middletown, Ohio. It was love at first sight and a few weeks later the A. W. Clarks formally announced the engagement.

Mr. Jones came here last week and employed the hours persuading his pretty fiancée that Sept. 14 was a much more auspicious wedding day than Oct. 10.

SHORT SPORT

This is farm day at Boston, Rube Marquard being pitted against Old Cy Young.

As usual there has cropped up a yarn about syndicate ball between the Giants and Rustlers because of Boston's acquisition of Bridwell and Mique Donlin. This is despite the greatly improved showing the Rustlers have made against New York of late.

No, Evelynia it wasn't malice that induced the Athletics to wallop Vaughn and Quinn for a total of 17 hits and 12 runs. Just a little playful demonstration of why the American league pennant is going to float over Shibe Park.

So the Yanks gently slid back into fourth place.

That baseball rarity—an errorless game—featured the meeting of the Cubs and Reds even a little more than the fact Iowa Boyd retired the Cubs on seven pitched balls in the final inning.

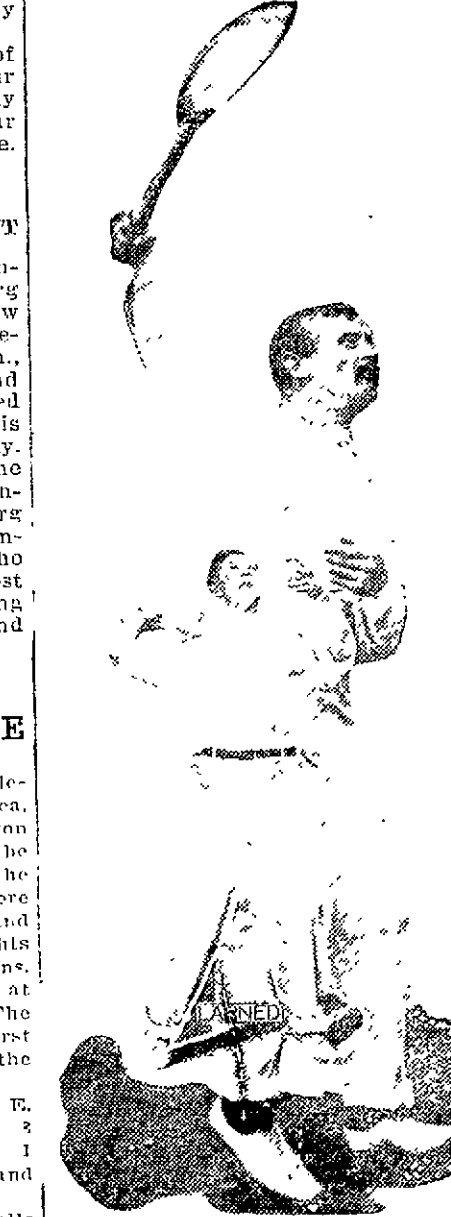

Despite Bancroft's repentance the Cincinnati business managers attack upon Umpire O'Day is a topic that will not die down. O'Day is a topic that O'Day told Bancroft what he thought about the incident in no uncertain terms.

The Cubs have found a way to cut down the New York lead. Here's the recipe: While J. Pluvius makes the Giants loaf. Mix well.

Young Birmingham, pitcher, is going to have a chance to be a hero. McGraw thinks all of the youngster and before the present season closes he will be given a chance.

GOVERNORS IN SESSION

inadequate divorce laws and their lax enforcement are threatening the very foundation of American life. The House of Governors opened their conference here today and prepared to thoroughly analyze this problem. While the subject is not on the program for discussion today many of the state executives expressed themselves freely on the question.

One of the conspicuous figures at the conference is Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio, who is considered a strong presidential candidate by the governors in attendance.

Spring Lake, N. J., Sept. 12.—Prepared to tackle the subject of uniform divorce laws in the different states and other changes in legislation which have been advocated by various governors and the American Bar Association, the annual conference of the Governors of the Union opened here today. From present prospects the conference bids fair to equal if not surpass those of the past, both as to attendance and business transacted.

This year's meeting will differ from that of 1910, held in Louisville and Frankfort, Ky., inasmuch as an effort will be made to transact more business and have less celebration. Kentucky hospitality last year came near putting serious business in second place. While New Jersey is not a whit behind her southern sister in tendering the governors a cordial reception, Governor Wilson has supervised the preparation of a program which will comprise a minimum of entertainment and a maximum of work. There are only two events of a strictly social nature scheduled for the entire meeting, a reception by Governor and Mrs. Wilson at Sea Girt tonight and a dinner to the governors by the Spring Lake entertainment committee on Thursday evening. The other evenings will be devoted to serious work connected with the conference.

Governor Woodrow Wilson delivered the opening address of welcome, followed by a response by Governor Jos. M. Carey of Wyoming. An address on "The Possibilities of the Governors' Conference," by Governor Willson of Kentucky, completed the morning session.

Other topics to be treated during the conference will be: "Strengthening the Power of the Executive," by Governors Norris of Montana and O'Neal of Alabama; "Employers' Liability and Workmen's Compensation," by Governor Foss of Massachusetts; "The Inheritance Tax and State Comity," by Governor Dix of New York, and Noel of Mississippi; "The Right of the State to Fix Intra-State Traffic Rates," by Governors Hadley of Missouri and Aldrich of Nebraska; "State Control of Public Utilities," by Governor McGovern of Wisconsin, and Carroll of Iowa; and "Problems of Prison Labor," by Governors West of Oregon and Osborn of Michigan. The evenings will doubtless be given over to other problems which will present themselves to the minds of those present, together with the fixing of permanent plans for future conferences.

In addition to the governors mentioned the following accepted invitations to be present: Governors, Richard E. Sloan, Arizona; George A. Donaghy, Arkansas; Hiram W. Johnson, California; John A. Safford, Colorado; Simeon E. Baldwin, Connecticut; Simeon E. Pennewell, Delaware; Albert W. Gilchrist, Florida; Hoke Smith, Georgia; James H. Hawley, Idaho; Thos. R. Marshall, Ind.; Walter R. Stubbs, Kansas; Jared Y. Sanders, Louisiana; Frederick W. Planted, Maine; Austin L. Crothers, Maryland; Adolph O. Oberhart, Minnesota; Robt. P. Bass, New Hampshire; William J. Mills, New Carolina; John Burke, North Dakota; Julian Harmon, Ohio; Lee Cline, Oklahoma; John K. Tener, Pennsylvania; Vma J. Pothier, Rhode Island; Coleman L. Blaise, South Carolina; Robert S. Vessey, South Dakota; Dan. W. Hooper, Tennessee; O. B. Colquitt, Texas; Wm. Spry, Utah; John A. Mead, Vermont; Wm. Hodges Mann, Virginia; Marion E. Hay, Washington; William E. Glassecock, West Virginia.

The conference will continue until Saturday noon.

Smells Like Good Coffee! Tastes Like Good Coffee! But Has Not One of the Bad Effects of Coffee

Here at last is the drink for everybody who likes the taste of good coffee. It is especially for those who know that coffee hurts them.

This perfect coffee substitute is called Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. Remember the name—Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. There's nothing else on the market like it.

Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is not a tasteless cereal drink—not a vile-tasting decoction. It is a real drink, with all the tempting fragrance—all the satisfying flavor—of the finest coffee.

And not a headache—not a pang—not a moment's regret in it. No matter how sensitive your stomach, Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is good for you. Drink all you want of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. It won't hurt you. It will help you.

Fitch's Grains of Health

The Coffee Substitute With the Coffee Taste

It took fourteen years to perfect Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH—the just real coffee substitute. Brilliant chemists joined their labors with coffee experts from the great plantations—men who have had a lifetime of experience with coffee—who know coffee from the seed to the cup.

They had a big idea. It was not to find something to take the place of coffee—but how to treat coffee so that the harm would be left out and the matchless taste and flavor kept in.

A Fascinating Story of Science and Perseverance

Everybody knows that the principle in coffee which causes all the harm is Caffeine. It is caffeine that affects the heart. Enough caffeine can be taken to arrest the heart.

How to neutralize or take out the caffeine without destroying the coffee taste was the task of these chemists and coffee experts.

They succeeded! They did more! They added natural health-building elements that correct the digestive system and tone up the entire system. The perfected result is Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH.

It is a very simple combination. Test it as you will, you won't find one thing detrimental to health.

Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH has a special high-grade blend of coffee in it—but so combined with herbs, roots and vegetables that the caffeine is counteracted.

Even children can drink all they want of it without the least bad effect.

Note the Good Effects of Fitch's Grains of Health

The herbs, roots and vegetables in Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH give it a positive remedial effect.

We have multitudes of testimonials—some from distinguished physicians—to show that Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH speedily alleviates Indigestion, Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Bileousness, Sick Headache, Constipation, etc.

One of the ill effects of coffee drinking is constipation.

If your grocer cannot supply you, write us, mentioning his name, and we will send you a generous sample package of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH (enough to serve a large family at breakfast) and a booklet telling you all about Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. Enclose 6 cents in stamps for postage.

IT'S HEALTHIFIED!

Grains of Health Company, Youngstown, Ohio

The herbs, roots and vegetables in Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH make a gentle laxative, which in the hot drink gives the most beneficial effect.

Nothing can sour in the stomach or intestines when they are daily cleansed by Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH.

Drink all of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH you want. The more the better.

You can sleep like a baby on Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. It is actually a remedy for insomnia—a blessing you will never be without, once you buy it.

Read What Delighted Users Say

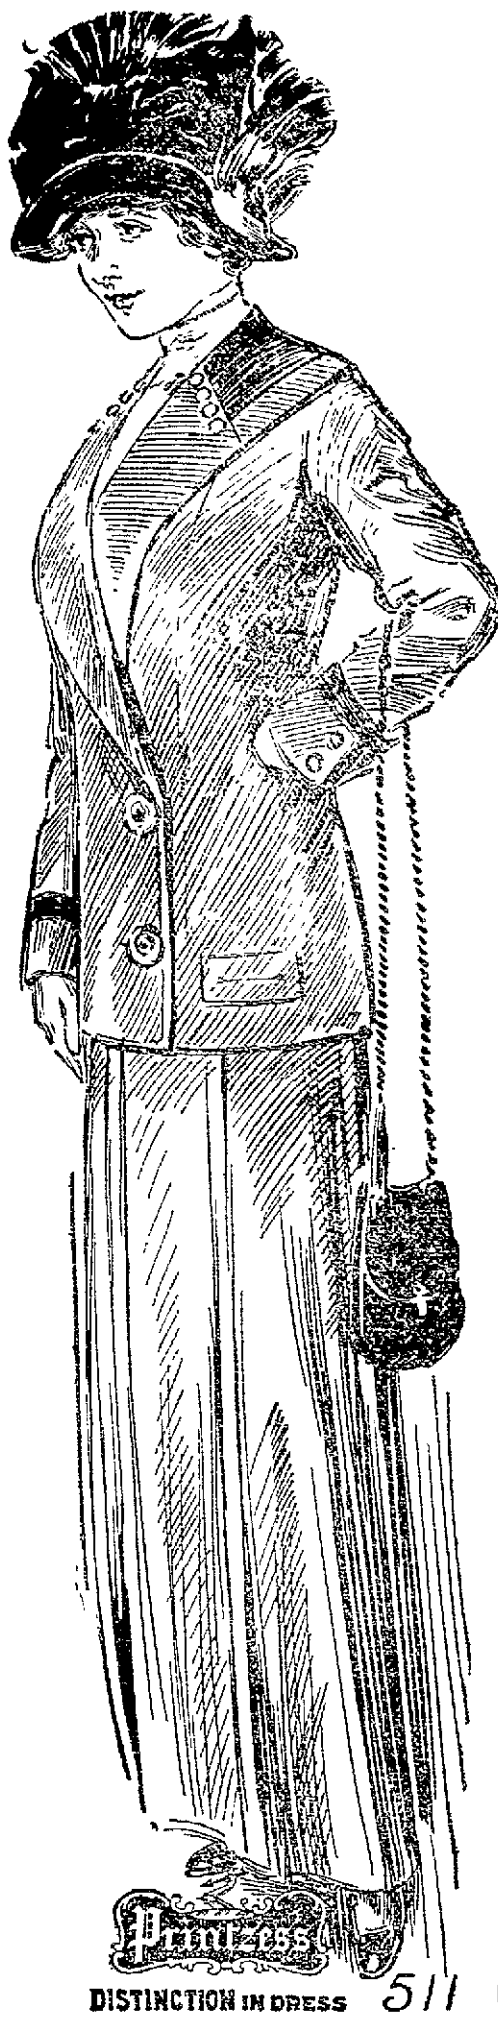

Here are extracts from three of the hundreds of letters written about Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. You can have the names on request. We offer $1,000 to anyone who can prove that any testimonial we print is not genuine.

From a Business Man—"I have used Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH and find it far superior to any coffee we ever used. It is all you claim—a coffee that everybody can drink and feel better after drinking it."

From a Doctor—"Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH has all the good drinking qualities of coffee and does not have harmful effects. It is good for the sick or the well. And as it has the coffee taste and flavor, anyone can enjoy it whether they need a health drink or not."

From a Woman—"I had suffered with severe headaches and sleepless nights. My grocer told me to quit coffee and try Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. I bought a package. I drank it three times a day. My headaches and nervousness have left me and I enjoy a good night's rest. I will not be without Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH."

Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is sold by all leading grocers. The price is 30 cents the pound. It is ground, ready for use. It is just as easy to prepare as coffee. But only half as much of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is required as coffee—a teaspoonful to a cup. Therefore, it really costs only half as much as good coffee.

The court proceeded with the call of the docket prepared by the clerk. There are 75 cases for hearing. A number of them will not be heard as the court is in session here but this week. The judges will hear cases until Thursday, and will then go into consultation. Grand Jury in Session.

The grand jurors resumed the taking of testimony on Tuesday morning.

Common Pleas Court.

In the case of the State of Ohio vs. Charles Ames, charged with keeping a place at Uica for the sale of intoxicating liquors, second offense, the court overruled the motion for new trial and sentenced the defendant to pay a fine of five hundred dollars. The defendant, Ames, had heretofore been convicted of a similar offense and had been fined two hundred dollars, fifty of which was remitted by the court during such time as the defendant refrained from keeping a place. On motion, the fifty dollars was ordered to be paid by the defendant, he having been found guilty of a second offense.

In the case of the State of Ohio vs. Verne Patterson, charged with two violations of the Rose County Local Option law. The case was tried to this court and submitted. Defendant found guilty. The court overruled the motion for new trial and sentenced the defendant to pay a fine of $200 and the costs of prosecution in each case. Sentence was suspended for a period of ten days to permit defendant to prosecute error proceedings in the Circuit court.

Motion to Dissolve Injunction.

In the case of Isaiah Shimmel vs. Nesbit H. Cole and others, the plaintiff has filed a motion to dissolve the temporary injunction heretofore granted in this case. Norpell, Norpell & Martin attorneys.

Answer to Petition.

In the case of John C. Neel vs. The Ohio Electric Co., et al., the defendants have filed their answer. They admit that plaintiff is the owner of the real estate in question; that the defendant is the owner of a parcel of land described in the petition, and that it was leased by the defendant to Harris, that there are a large number of buildings on the land, and also a small artificial lake; they also admit the location of what is known as Waite Weir run, and that defendants caused to be constructed a file drain through the land. They deny all the other allegations. F. A. Durban and Fitzgibbon & Montgomery, attorneys for defendant.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE Pools the Calendar.

Don't look older than you are. It is just as easy to look younger. While lack of hair or poor hair is not always an indication of age, it is frequently accepted as such.

A person well advanced in years possessing a good head of hair is always spoken of as "well preserved."

Everyone can retain beautiful, luxuriant hair if they make the effort. In almost every instance poor health or the loss of hair may be traced to the activity of the dandruff germ. Newbro's Herpicide kills this germ and puts the scalp in a perfectly healthy condition. With the destruction of the dandruff germ the hair no longer drops out. The itching of the scalp stops almost at once.

Newbro's Herpicide is the original remedy for which there are many substitutes, preparations claimed to be "just as good." You don't have to accept a substitute. Insist upon having genuine Herpicide.

For sale by all druggists. Applications obtained at good barber shops. One dollar size bottles are a ways guaranteed. Send 10c in postage to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich. for sample and book. W. A. Bruman & Son, Special Agents.

THE FIGHT AGAINST LOW TAX RATE

Columbus, O., Sept. 12.—Coincidence has been taken by the State Tax Commission of Ohio of reports that appear to have been persistently and designedly circulated throughout the state to the effect that school boards might levy under an old law as high as 17 mills, without regard to the limitations of the levy fixed by the Smith one per cent act. The report evidently was based on a supposed "discovery" made by a Franklin county official. No attention was paid to it at the time, as the contention had little basis, but the persistence with which it has been circulated, evidently by persons who do not want the one per cent law to be a success, but misled some of the taxing officials in the state. The commission insists that the one per cent law applies in this circumstance and will continue so to hold.

Another false premise on which certain county commissioners threaten to act is with reference to road levies. Certain commissioners declare they will levy whatever they please up to five mills for road improvement purposes in addition to the amounts which may be levied within the limit fixed by the Smith law, such excess levies, it is claimed, may be made under the provision excluding levies for emergency purposes from the limits fixed by the one per cent law. The tax commission denies that these officials have any such right and if such a levy, or any levy not contemplated by the Smith law is attempted, the commission, acting under the provisions of the Hollinger law, which gives it ample authority in the premises, will instruct county auditors not to place such a levy on the tax duplicate, and if officials persist in disobeying the law will address a communication to the attorney general requesting him to investigate the advisability of having such officials impeached and removed from office, under the provisions of the act of May 31, 1911.

If there is to be a one per cent tax rate, and if the taxpayers are to be relieved from excessive rates, officers must obey the law. The State Tax Commission was right in nipping in its incipient movement to tear down the barrier against excessive tax rates, which was built up by the Smith law. If the commission had not acted, it would not be long before levies for alleged emergencies would be made all over the state and the rates would be as high as ever. It would be an easy matter to make a levy for an alleged emergency and then, after the money had been received, to decide that the emergency did not exist. The money could then be appropriated for some other use.

The people want a law tax rate, and the quicker public officers let up in their opposition to it the better it will be for them.

TAMMANY MAN BADLY HURT IN A STREET BRAWL

New York, Sept. 12.—Probably fatal injuries were suffered by Major Edward J. Flack, son of former Sheriff James A. Flack, during a political street fight in Harlem early today. Flack, who is a Tammany captain, was involved in an argument with two men when one of them knocked him down. In falling Flack's head struck a stone step which fractured his skull. One of his alleged assailants, Louis Matthews, was arrested, but Flack was still unconscious and could not identify him.
